Lexington, is, without doubt, one of the most ressy and fashionable places in the west, and live in. It has three flourishing female colleges, all filled to overflowing, and when out on the streets with their teachers at the head of each phoof, taking exercise-walks, they make a very | bankrupt her. one and commanding appearance. Lexington has all denominations of christians, and with their fine meeting bouses and their male schools and with a well-watered and healthy city, makes it the place for parents to send their sons an daughters to be educated. The Autiville district school closed last week They had an exhibition and charged 25 cents at the door, to raise money to buy a bell and black board. It was a financial failure. We think such arrangements ought to fail, for, if the school can't austain itself without getting up exhibitions and charging admittance, just let the school go without a bell and black-board. If school examinations or exhibitions are not to be free, let the free schools go. It is said that this school has a good teacher; that may be so, but he has twice as many scholars as he can teach, and consequently, it is money and time lost to patrons and children. But this is not the teacher's fault, the fault is with the trustees for not having an assistant teacher. The fact is, some of the children stopped going because they were doing no good. If the trustees haven't got school money enough they ought to raise the amount by subscription, and employ an assistant. Let us have a good school in the luture or no school at all. There will be a debate on the organ question n Auliville Wednesday night, the 13th of March, between Amos Horne, a Baptist, and Joseph Mejors, & Christian. The question is, "Resolved, that the organ is beneficial in within and ing God in the church." Mr. Horne affirms and Mr. Majora denies. The judges are Meann.

The two judges within the organ is beneficial to within the first epistle of Peter: By so doing confer a layor. will select a third one. It seems that they ought sliver dollars it would take to reach, air deep, to have put in the question that it was equally church, for if the organ is essential in aiding the church members to worship God, certainly a praying machine would be much more needed Broause there are but few that pray publicly, with that command of God staring the church in the face, they won't or don't pray; hence, the church stands greatly in need of a praying orchurch stands greatly in need of a praying orthe past. gan.
